Statement of Reasons for Allowance

1. Claims 1,3-10,12-14,17-22,24-28 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance.

The present invention is directed to a method for switch user interface language.

All independent claims recite, in combination with the remaining elements, various features such as:

receiving a request for a resource, the request including a module identifier identifying a resource module; in response to receiving the request, obtaining a language identifier from a source other than the request; constructing a path name that combines the module identifier from the request with the language identifier from the source other than the request; redirecting the request to the constructed path name to select a localized resource from the resource module based on the language identifier from the source other than the request as recited, or similarly recited in claims 1 and 21; and selecting a resource module based on the module identification and on a language identifier that is obtained independently of the request, the selecting including determining whether a module path having a path name comprising the module identification includes a subdirectory having a name that is equivalent to a current user language identifier, wherein: if the module path includes a subdirectory having a name that is equivalent to the current user language identifier, selecting the resource module from the subdirectory having the name that is equivalent to the current user language identifier; and if the module path does not include the subdirectory having the name that is equivalent to the current user language identifier, determining whether the module path includes a subdirectory having a name equivalent to a primary language identifier corresponding to the current user language identifier; and providing the requested localized resource from the selected resource module as recited in claim 7.

All prior art of records, show a similar method, however, they still fail to, singularly or in combination, anticipate or render the above cited limitations obvious.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
